About the Book

Desperate to escape her past, Hayley Blankenship flies from Toronto to the Saskatoon home of Pastor Dave and Lydia Harris, the only people who may be able to help her. If she doesn't find a reason to hope, she may give in to the temptation to end it all. If only someone could love her, in spite of what she's done.

Trevor Hiebert aces the interview for his dream job in Toronto, but he's torn. His beloved parents need him, and while he doesn't want to let them down, he craves the affirmation he hopes to find in the big city. But on the flight home to Saskatoon, he meets an intriguing, gorgeous redhead with dark secrets of her own.

Can these two troubled souls gain the peace they need—and in the process, find love?

TITLE: Redemption's Whisper
Discussion:

Question 1: If a person regrets her past, can moving be the fresh start she needs?

Answer 1: Only if she deals with her issue, too.

Question 2: Is there anything too horrible for God to forgive?

Answer 2: No. Jesus' sacrifice paid for all sins.

Question 3: How much do adult children owe their parents?

Answer 3: Honor dictates the answer to this.

Question 4: Is forgiveness a "one time, done" affair?

Answer 4: Not usually. Forgiveness needs to be offered each time the issue arises.

Question 5: Why does God allow terrible things to happen?

Answer 5: Because our world is sinful, but He can use even the most dreadful situation.

Question 6: Is there such a thing as guardian angels?

Answer 6: According to the Bible, yes.

Question 7: What does "You've got this, and God's got you" mean to you?

Answer 7: Individual answers

Question 8: Do miracles still happen?

Answer 8: Yes, of course!

Question 9: Should a new Christian fall in love with an unbeliever? Why or why not?

Answer 9 Individual answers

Question 10: How can you know you're forgiven?

Answer 10: Believe in God's word. He promises to forgive when we repent.
